Stone Family Room Addition

United States

Coupe New Vehicle Buy Now Brand Offer

We always love it when our former clients call us back for additional work on their home. In this case the owners wanted an open room which would be a place to play pool, entertain, and gather with family and friends. They wanted the addition to feel like a stone barn to which the main house was added, and we all agree, it really does feel like the stone addition has always been there.

Andina did a wonderful job designing and managing our project. Jimmy and Arthur were instrumental in understanding our needs and applying that to the overall design of the house.

December 6, 2018

The team at Crisp Architects did a great job with the attic/guest room conversion of our classic New England Saltbox. We are so pleased with the first leg of our project that we look forward to working with them on the rest of our house! Jimmy and his staff are helpful and a pleasure to work with. I highly recommend them.

The additions we designed are Greek revival, which is a vernacular style of the region and was consistent with the age of the original home. Triple hung windows bring wonderful amounts of light into the living room, while the open plan of the kitchen helps the renovated home flow well. In the end, this old farmhouse feels as though it was finished in the nineteenth century.

So what exactly is rich media? By definition, it is an online advertising technique that combines graphics with audio technologies, giving Internet users an interactive experience. And with more than half of American households connected online and using high-speed connections like broadband and DSL, it means a potentially lucrative way for online advertisers to get consumers' attention.

One company taking online advertising to a different level is Centale Inc. (OTCBB: CNTL), based in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The online marketing and technology firm offers cutting-edge technology solutions to its clients.

Centale's premier application, the Catalyst EV, is a software platform that allows companies to communicate directly to the desktop of their audience in rich media format.

The software also functions independent of e-mail. To date, studies have shown that e-mail campaigns may be decreasing in effectiveness because as the amount of e-mail increases, the likelihood of success of the solicitation or advertisement tends to decrease.

One reason that advertisers are embracing rich media is that it typically entertains and is compelling enough to capture the interest of consumers. It also allows a user a modicum of control by either stopping the ad entirely, or participating in it and clicking through to an advertiser's Web site to get more information.

While rich media may not endear advertising to online consumers, most users are finding it less intrusive than traditional pop-up, banner and text-based ads. Centale says there is a favorable market for its product, as the industry shifts away from traditional advertising such as print and radio in favor of online advertising.

Edna Green

January 22, 2019

Andina did a wonderful job designing and managing our project. Jimmy and Arthur were instrumental in understanding our needs and applying that to the overall design of the house.

Jimmy Drake

December 6, 2018

The team at Crisp Architects did a great job with the attic/guest room conversion of our classic New England Saltbox. We are so pleased with the first leg of our project that we look forward to working with them on the rest of our house! Jimmy and his staff are helpful and a pleasure to work with. I highly recommend them.

Mayme Barnes

June 13, 2018

I found Andina' website many years ago, forging our dream of hiring Jimmy Crisp to design our hypothetical addition to our small house built in 1785. Ten years later, with a comparatively small budget than their norm, located across the river, in Orange... Show more

Interior Designer needed to Design under construction house

Site Location

260 Francisco Rue Apt. 879

Budget Approx.

$10,000 to $25,000

Project Type

One Time

Expertise

Building Design

The additions we designed are Greek revival, which is a vernacular style of the region and was consistent with the age of the original home. Triple hung windows bring wonderful amounts of light into the living room, while the open plan of the kitchen helps the renovated home flow well. In the end, this old farmhouse feels as though it was finished in the nineteenth century.

So what exactly is rich media? By definition, it is an online advertising technique that combines graphics with audio technologies, giving Internet users an interactive experience. And with more than half of American households connected online and using high-speed connections like broadband and DSL, it means a potentially lucrative way for online advertisers to get consumers' attention.

One company taking online advertising to a different level is Centale Inc. (OTCBB: CNTL), based in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The online marketing and technology firm offers cutting-edge technology solutions to its clients.

Centale's premier application, the Catalyst EV, is a software platform that allows companies to communicate directly to the desktop of their audience in rich media format.

The software also functions independent of e-mail. To date, studies have shown that e-mail campaigns may be decreasing in effectiveness because as the amount of e-mail increases, the likelihood of success of the solicitation or advertisement tends to decrease.

One reason that advertisers are embracing rich media is that it typically entertains and is compelling enough to capture the interest of consumers. It also allows a user a modicum of control by either stopping the ad entirely, or participating in it and clicking through to an advertiser's Web site to get more information.

While rich media may not endear advertising to online consumers, most users are finding it less intrusive than traditional pop-up, banner and text-based ads. Centale says there is a favorable market for its product, as the industry shifts away from traditional advertising such as print and radio in favor of online advertising.
